The Supernatural TOMATOES

There was a small village named Warlington in the outskirts of a forest. The village was completely filled with cute little huts and more flourishing fields. The primary occupation of the villagers was farming. Everyone gets up early in the morning to do all the daily chores. That was a prosperous village. God had abundantly showered his blessings in the form of greenery. The villagers were very happy about their life in that Warlington village. Between all those flourishing fields there was only one tomato field. There were many stories revolve around that particular field because that field looks ever fertile and all those tomatoes were red, plump and fresh. That special tomatoes are not at all cultivated by the farmers because they have a belief that “whoever touches that tomatoes will be highly punished”. More than that there were so many hurdles to cross that fenced field. No one dare to enter into the field. Actually there was no possible way to enter into the garden. People didn't shown willingness to unwrap the pathway. They are so scared of that and many myths were also surrounded the tomato garden. A boy named Adam who was residing in the nearer city came to know about this special tomato field. He wanted to visit that field. So he entered into the Warlington. He saw an old farmer ploughing his field he stopped there, asked that farmer, where is that tomato field?

The farmer shocked he didn't even respond. He said, go back to your city. Easily no one can enter into that field because god is safeguarding that field. He also requested him to return to his city. But Adam doesn't want to give up his wish. He persistently asked the farmer to tell him the facts of the tomato field. Then he starts speaking, There are many stories shared with me that have had me in tears and chuckles and always had me flush with gratitude for the sharing. Like the one I received many years ago.

That is the base of this special tomato field. An old man in this village was dyeing with cancer. He had severe aches and pain all over his body. He cannot do his daily chores. He doesn't want anybody to serve him as he is forever grateful for everybody and he thought he himself will take care of him. When he reached the verge of death, he accepted his leaving. His death launched with a request for tomato seed, wanted to be told. This was to be the last tomato garden he was to plant. No more or less important than any of his tomato gardens. He shared of his father's garden and his grandfather's tomato garden, and that tomato field is the only asset of his own from his grandfather. He wanted that to be protected securely. With this last wish the old man passed away. After his period his son and grandchildren protected that field with that same level. There is also a belief that grandfather's soul is still in that tomato field and that may be the reason for the fear of the people to enter into the field. this is how these tomato gardens had enriched his life and give him home. This was the heart touching background of the tomato field and then from that time till now his soul is residing inside this tomato field. Till now no one dare to enter that field. so the people themselves considered that as prohibited.

The farmer finally ended the heart melting background of the tomato field. Now Adam's curiosity has raised up to the level. He wanted to visit that field. He did not want to give up his wish of enter into the field. He waited until night for the secret entry into the tomato field. He disguised himself as a clown and enter into that garden. There was a huge fenced wall and all those were wired abruptly. Adam glanced at that and thought that would be so tough to cross that fencing. His mind gazed over too many directions to find a correct way to enter the field. He eventually figured out the way. There was a small hole in the fenced wall painted as a tomato. He touched that and sensed there is a way to enter inside. He wore a clown cap and baggy loose fitting pants with full sleeved hoodie. He entered into the garden through the fenced wall's small painting. When he touched the wall, he could easily open it. Adam examined all over the garden. He had a torchlight and some protective aids for his safety. He thoroughly glanced over the garden. The red gloomy tomatoes were so attractive to his eyes. He avidly plugged a tomato and also ate that. Suddenly a spirit appeared. He was blanked out at that moment. He was pushed a step backwards because of his fear. His knees trembled but he managed and ask the spirit who is he? The spirit replied that he was the old man who was the profound reason for the emergence of that tomato field. He also noted that he had been waiting for that boy for a long period. By hearing this Adam was totally confused and continued that what is the reason to wait for him?

The spirit replied, "I have been waiting for the right person to take and safeguard this tomato field as this garden holds plenty of tremendous wealth inside. The person who dare to cross this fenced wall is the appropriate deserved person to take up the in charge of this entire wealthy field." Adam was so happy that his inner spirit has helped him to cross that fenced wall and that had resulted in a great thing. He praised the spirit for giving such a huge gift for him. The spirit of old man Assured that there will be no danger to his life hereafter.

From the next day Adam perfectly planned and made certain proper arrangements for the maintenance of the tomato field. He took his in charge in that garden. All the people were allowed to enter into the field but they were strictly restricted to waste the tomatoes. People were so happy and they maintained that in a good way. Not only the tomato field but all the fields and the areas over the village were maintained neatly. The key reason for this is the Adam, who serves with total dedication. As a result, the village was built as a model for all the other settlements. We must not underestimate our inner essence.

A Letter of Apology

Dear Mother Earth,

I know that you aren't hale and hearty at present. Your health has been deteriorating for the past few years. And I know that you are still tolerating all your sufferings as they were caused by your children. You are forgiving us as our Mother, but we are failing to protect you as your children. This letter is a letter of apology. This is a letter written to seek repentance from Mother Earth on behalf of the entire human race.

I have heard people portraying you as an embodiment of patience and tolerance. I don't know if that is why your patience is constantly tested. You, as a MOTHER, nurtured and nourished us with all your resources. You made us cherish and flourish in life. But we in turn gave you only strong bashes and whiplashes.

Mother, there is a proverb - 'Live and let live'. But we humans conspired against you for the sake of our cozy lifestyle. We deceived you and your other children. We drained your resources, destroyed the creatures born from your womb, and contaminated your womb with plastics and other pollutants. Yet, you are still patient, giving us chances each day to realize and correct our mistakes.

Today, you are suffering from a high fever. All your freshwater resources are draining gradually. Everything that you created with love - air, water, soil, flora, and fauna is now corrupted and is approaching the verge of destruction. You created us to be the protectors of all your resources, but we became the greatest threat to you, Mother.

'As you sow, so shall you reap'. Today we are facing the results of our actions. Earlier, we were indifferent to your warnings about the results of our deeds. But now, we realize that by destroying you slowly, we are destroying ourselves. Though it is already too late to purge, we apologize to you from the bottom of our hearts and promise to try all the possible ways to correct our mistakes. Sorry, Mother, and thank you for all your love and care showered on us to date.

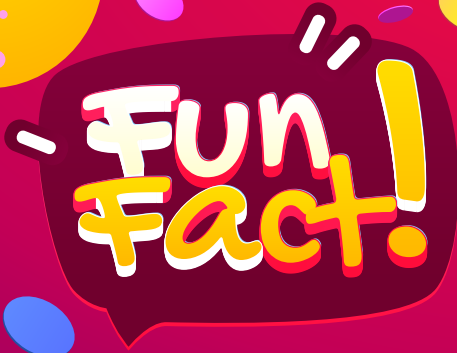

Yours apologetically,
